Election To-Day.—To-day is election-day in Manchester and Chesterfield. A great deal of interest is manifested in the county deal of interest is manifested in the county election, but in this city notities are at a stand-still, because there is no opposition, at least as far as we can now see, to the can-didates nominated a few days ago. The only salaried office to be filled is that of the Mayor, and Mr. John E. Taylor is the only candidate for this office. In Chesterfield, however, the situation is different, and the contest promises to be a lively one indeed. The vote, however, will not be larger than usual, as many up to yesterday had not paid their poll-taxes, bence they will not be allowed to exercise the royal right of an American citizen at the polls to-day.

Joint Meeting.—A joint meeting of the Board of Supervisors of Chesterfield and the County School Board was held at the would know it. court-house Monday afternoon to receive the report of the executors of the late treathe report of the executors of the late trea-surer relative to the county school fund. The report was received, and a committee appointed to examine the accounts and re-port at a meeting to be held on the 23d of June. A meeting of the supervisors will be held on the 23d of July, at which the whole matter regarding the school fund will be finally settled.

and the book-maker to offer the most tempting odds for the Rancocas, for the betters were shy. The two first races were such stunners, and as the third paid "nothing," money was closed. Besides, the field was gia, and lumbago, by the use of St. Jacobs so large for the handicap that speculators—Oil. J. F. Shaw, Proprietor. especially the amsteurs-were decided's with less rapidity. Every person had a different "tip" or winner. The auc-tion pools opened low, and in fact none of them were very large. Lordlard's three year-old was the favorite, selling in the aud tion pools at $40 to Oden's $26. Oden's mile-and-eighth horse, and in the mutuals be sold up well with Lorillard's Saunterer; Thora, $32; and field, consisting of the other ten horses, $120. The horses faced Captain Connor at the furlongpole: Thora, Krupp Gun, Baby, Outeast, Warfield, Oden, Ortole, Edelweiss, Glenmore, Laureole, Neufchate!, Bushwhacker, and Saunterer.

When Nelson, on Bushwhacker, appeared on the track from the saddling paddock and galloped past the grand stand, he was greet ed with a round of applause, for many renimbly past to the starting point. There were several false starts, for the large field was restless and anxious to get off. At last a good start was made, and the thirteen horses sprang away. Neufchatel showed first to the front, with the red and white colors of Bowie's stable on Oriole second, then the violet, on Outcast. The blue and red of the Clabaugh stable, worn by Oden's jockey, was fourth, while the other nine horses were all in a bunch. Down past the grand stand the great troop came. The crowd gave one great cheer as the horses flew by—almost too quickly to place them. Down past the grand stand the great troop came. The crowd gave one great troop came. The crowd gave one great cheer as the horses flew by—almost too quickly to place them. Neufchatel was still holding his own, with Oden near him. At the quarter-mile pole Farley, with his orange facket, $25 wed Neufchatel in the tade. Colon, Thora, Glenmore, Oureast, and Oriole were near him. But Farley knew his horse, and though one by one the other dozen changed places, Neufchatel was never headed. Saunterer, on whom so many relied, made a spurt on the backstretch, but it did not tell, and even Thora was lost in the crowd. Oden alone seemed to hold his own, and as the great troop flew. was lost in the crowd. Oden alone seemed to hold his own, and as the great troop flew down the homestretch, Neufchatel leading, Oden came up second. The sight was a beautiful one. The bright colors of the jockeys, the flying borses, and the large number so close together, made the crowd on the grand stand and lawn shout with pleasure and wave their hats and handkerchiefs with enthusiasm. Neufchatel passed under the line a winner, with Oden a good second, Krupp Gun third, Glenmore fourth; Saunterer, Thora, Outcast, Oriole, Bushwhacker, Warfield, Edelweiss, Baby, and Laureole, in the order named. A Question for Mr. G. E. Smith. Editors Dispatch: Please ask Hon. George E. Smith. Lunenburg's representative in the last Legislature, to answer the following questions, which he ignored in his card of the 11th of May, and published his card of the 11th of May, and published in your issue of May 18th:

Would he have voted for General Mahone, and would the Conservative Readjusters of Lunenburg have endorsed his doing so, had not he and they believed that General Mahone would act with the Democratic party in the United States Senate?

Does he, or do the Conservative Readjusters of Lunenburg, endorse General Mahone's action in casting every vote he has given in the Senate with the Republicans and against the Democrats, and especially his voting for such Radicals as Conkling, Logan, Cameron, and Kellogg, over and in preference to such Democrats as Bayard, Voorbees, Hampton, and Lamar?

Voorbees, Hampton, and Lamar? Voorhees, Hampton, and Limar?
These are the real questions to be passed upon by the Democrats of Virginia of every shade of opinion on the debt question.
